

Postcards in 'PJ'

You know how JP gets his sounds swapped around? Like, 'the frof of the tidge' when he means 'the top of the fridge'. That's called a Spoonerism.

Here's a postcard we think he might have written. See if you can read it. You could have a competition with your friends to see who works it out first.

Now try writing a whole postcard yourself with a good few Spoonerisms in it. (Use the back of the page to write on.)

Give it to your friends and see if they can decipher it. If they can, they win. If they can't, you win.
